NOTICE AS TO CAR INSPECTION

Richmond, Va.-Concerned over the appearance of an excessive number of outdated motor vehicle inspection stickers this month (September) and the crowding of stations as August ended, Captain R. B. King, State Polices Safety Officer, today issued a plea for motorist cooperation with the inspection program.

"In the overwhelming majority of the outdated sticker cases," he said "we feel certain that there was no intent on the part of the car owners to break the law. However, a police officer, under the law, has no alternative but to issue a citation when one is noted."

Captain King then emphasized the fact that all during the six-month period between inspections the motorist has inspection date of his current sticker constantly before him in the form of a large numeral on the sticker which corresponds to the expiration month. "Just a little care can so easily prevent the unpleasantness of an arrest," he noted.

The safety official stated further that the switch in inspection procedure to permit the individual car owner to select the inspection months of his choice was designed to eliminate the crowding of inspection stations experienced when all cars were required to be inspected during two designated periods a year.

"While the new system can spread inspections evenly throughout the year, failure to take advantage of the earlier days of the month for inspection can jam the stations beyond their capacities and cause both delay and inconvenience," he continued.

In conclusion, Captain King emphasized the fact that the inspection program is a definite safety measure to prevent cars with dangerous defects from operating until the defects are corrected and that the State Police were striving to carry it out with as little inconvenience to motorists as possible.

Fertilization Program For Alfalfa Clarified

Some Virginia farmers are having to re-organize their thinking about topdressing alfalfa with fertilizer.

The recent recommendations about using a fertilizer-heptachlor mixture before October 15 to control the alfalfa weevil has prompted a lot of questions about the general fertilization program, says John F. Shoulders, associate agronomist at VPI.

The important thing is to get the fertilizer on once a year, Shoulders says. As far as applying phosphate and potash, it should be almost as effective to topdress in the fall as during the winter or early spring. Phosphate is not leached from the soil, and potash moves slowly in lighter soils and practically none in heavier soils. Both phosphate and potash will be retained over the winter and will be available for the alfalfa when growth begins next spring.

A soil test will determine the analysis or ratio of fertilizer to use for topdressing alfalfa. If soil test results are not available, the 0-1-2 ratio is the best choice for most conditions. However, on soils low in potash and on lighter soils, the 0-1-3 would be better. An 0-1-1 should be used only when it is known that the soil is high in potash.

Hargrave Next For A. H. S.

The Appomattox Rebels will try to get back on the winning path Friday night when they meet a strong Hargrave Military Academey team. The Rebels lost to a much heavier V. E. S. team last Friday by a score of 6 to 0 in a good football game played by both teams. Appomattox played one of its best defensive games that has been played in the past few years. But the offensive couldn't move through the bigger V. E. S. team.

This Friday night at 8:00 P. M. the Rebels wil meet another strong team in Hargrave Military Academy. Hargrave lost to Washington and Lee Freshman last week by a very low score. The Rebels will have to play as good a defense game as last week plus putting forward more effort and blocking on offense to win this Friday night. Boys playing outstanding defense last week were: Donald Baldwin, Tatt, Freddie Wingfield, Donald Zenter, Freddie Carter, Gerald Jeffers, Buzzy Martin, Robert Garzette, James Whitehead, and Harold Connor. On offense Johnny Canada, G. H. Jamerson, Dickie Guill did most of the ball carrying for the Rebels.

Come out Friday and see a good game and support your local football team. The boys play much harder before a large crowd.

PICNIC SUPPER

A picnic supper was given for the Headquarter's Staff and Members of the Virginia State Police stationed in Appomattox County on September 20, 1960, at the home of Dispatcher and Mrs. Roy Massie, Mrs. Roy Massie, Mrs. P. C. Hollandsworth, and Mrs. R. I. Scott served as hostesses for the occasion. Those present were:

Dispatcher and Mrs. Roy Massie, Trooper and Mrs. P. C. Hollandsworth and Family, Dispatcher and Mrs. R. I. Scott and Family, Lieutenant and Mrs. L. E. Thomas & Barbara, Sergent and Mrs. S. J. Couch and Mrs. Carol Couch Burke, Trooper and Mrs. E. L. Jones, Trooper and Mrs. C. W. Wagner, Trooper W. W. Wilberger, Jr. Dispatcher and Mrs. J. H. Wilson and Family, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McAden and Family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Jessee Osborne, Miss Peggy Garzette, Miss June Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Scruggs and Mr. and Mrs.D. W. Carter & Family. Everyone enjoyed the fellowship and delicious food.

Fertilizer Needs Are Explained

Today's farmer is "on the ball" when it comes to using the right fertilizer for a specific need, believes W. W. Lewis, Agronomist, VPI Agricultural Extension Service. For example, tests of soils from the coastal plain, area of Virginia have shown that potash was needed more than phosphate under corn. Consequently, a 3-9-18 analysis has been provided by the fertilizer industry and farmers are using it at the rate of 25,000 tons a year compared to only 5,000 a few years ago. To keep a proper nutrient balance for best corn growth, these farmers are side-dressing with nitrogen.

In many areas in the piedmont and westward, soil tests show potash higher than phosphate, so for fertilizing pasture 0-2-1 ration, such as a 0-20-10 or equivalent is now available and is widely used.

Likewise, 0-9-27 analysis with borax for topdressing alfalfa is being used by farmers having soil that needs a special boost in potash. For most farmers, however, the 0-10-20 for topdressing alfalfa is most popular.

For general use, 5-10-10 is most popular and runs highest of all on tonnage used, with 2-12-12 second, 3-9-9 (a tobacco fertilizer) third; and 10-10-10 fourth.

Farmers are relying more and more, Lewis says, on soil tests and recommendations by agronomists and county agents about the right fertilizer to use. In addition to the test, crop history and future use of the soil is needed. Using the analysis of fertilizer that most nearly fits the situation makes the best use of fertilizer dollars, Lewis concludes.

Appomattox is a growing town.
